Candidates must attain or exceed the minimum control scores for undergraduate art majors set by their home province (autonomous region or municipality) in both college entrance examination cultural scores and unified art major examination scores. The University accepts the file submission rules of each province (autonomous region or municipality) for art applicants and allocates majors to filed candidates under the principle of "score priority with voluntary preference compliance", admitting candidates from highest to lowest based on the official combined submission scores specified by each province (autonomous region or municipality).
